Dear Holy Rosary Friends and Families,

During this wonderful season of the Lord's resurrection our thoughts go to the reality that awaits us on the Last Day, when the just will rise in their glorified bodies to be with Christ forever in His kingdom.

The great beauty of the glorified body is impossible for us to imagine now. St. Paul speaks of the difference between the earthly body and the glorified body as between a seed and the full-grown plant (1 Cor. 15:37). So, as much as we may praise the Creator for the beauty the human form now has, it will one day seem like an uninteresting and lowly beginning—like a seed—in comparison with the glorious form it will eventually have.

St. Thomas identifies four primary traits of the resurrected body: impassibility, agility, subtlety, and clarity.

The problem of suffering and death will no longer exist after the Day of Christ's coming. Death shall be no more, neither shall there be mourning nor crying nor pain any more (Rev. 21:4). So the bodies of the just will be no longer capable of physical pain or corruption of any kind. This is what the term impassibility refers to, from the Latin im-passio, meaning "without-suffering."

Agility is the free and swift movement of the glorified body. The experience we often have now of the body weighing down and hindering the soul will no longer be the case. In the blessed, the soul will be completely in charge. Wherever the soul wishes to go, it will go instantaneously, with the quickness of thought.

Thus, the material make-up of the resurrected body will no longer be the physical flesh and blood we now have. St. Paul calls it a spiritual body (1 Cor. 15:44). As a result, there will be a remarkable ability of the glorified body to pass through other bodies without difficulty. This is called subtlety. As the Gospels described Jesus passing through the walls of the Upper Room after His resurrection, so it will be for the resurrected saints.

Light is one of the special qualities emanating from God. All those who become sharers in divine life emanate this very same light of God. Our Lord speaks of the time when the just will shine as the sun in the kingdom of their Father. Jesus himself, as a preview of the light that he would one day impart to the redeemed made His body shine on Mt. Tabor at the Transfiguration with a brightness that astounded the apostles. This is the attribute of clarity, or brilliance, that will be seen in the glorified body. The soul, filled with the Divine Presence, will overflow with God-like radiance, turning the body into a thing of spectacular beauty and brightness.

Our culture today equates heaven with purely spiritual beings, so much so that even human beings, who are created with bodies, will leave those bodies behind at death and go on to a completely spiritual existence, becoming angels.

Contrary to this is our Christian belief that once a human being, created with both soul and body, always a human being. In eternity too we will eventually be brought to our full and complete humanity with the resurrection of our body, and its reunion in a newfound glory with the soul. Christ Himself is the Exemplar supreme of mankind's bodily existence in eternity, now in this time after the Ascension dwelling in heaven with His resurrected and glorified body. As He rose, so will we. As He is not in heaven as an angel, so it will be for us once the Last Day comes, and with it the general resurrection of all those faithful to Him.
