Dear Parishioners:

Portland was hit hard by this last ice storm! While folks to the north got a lot of snow, those in the south were hammered by freezing rain, taking out trees and many power lines. We friars came out fine, not even losing power. Once again, we were reminded that we're not in charge. Sadly, the snow and ice made it difficult for people to get to Mass and for us friars to reach our flock. On a positive note, there was a dramatic uptick in the number of people that viewed our live Masses on Sunday (those who had power, anyway). And we maxed-out several of our Ash Wednesday Masses, even though there was still a lot of residual snow. We're a resilient lot!

I would like to remind us that Lent is truly here and that we should be implementing and observing some Lenten practices, especially the obligatory fast and abstinence rules, which by the time you read this is limited to Fridays between now and Good Friday. We must abstain from meat on all Fridays of Lent, and we must fast and abstain on Good Friday itself. This year, in the Year of St. Joseph proclaimed by Pope Francis back in December, Jesus' earthly father has given us an extra gift. Since his feast day falls on a Friday of Lent (March 19), and because it has the rank of Solemnity, we are released from the obligation to fast and abstain. How great is that? On that day we will have a special Dominican Rite Mass sung by Cantores in Ecclesia at 7:00p (thus impeding Stations of the Cross for that evening).

We should also recognize the Church's obligation to fast and abstain is a minimum. We really should be doing more. One often overlooked observance is the giving of alms—giving up of our time and/or earnings for the benefit of others. Given that this past year has been difficult, and that recent events have been troubling, why not reach out toward our neighbor, whether it is a friend, a family member, an actual neighbor, or someone we don't even know? By focusing on others and less on ourselves, we find a sure method of obtaining the joy of the gospel.

Lastly, this Sunday is the Annual Archbishop's Appeal and we'll be taking a second collection at all of our Masses. Even though as a Dominican parish with the status of beneficencia (i.e., we own the parish) we are not obliged to participate in this appeal, we have done so for decades, recognizing that we very much appreciate the strong efforts that our Archbishop is making for the good the Church in Western Oregon. Speaking of which, because of the weather this past weekend, you can imagine how little our own collection was. Please consider registering for online giving, giving a little extra, and/or updating your status to receive reminder envelopes.

God bless you all,

- Fr. Corwin Low, op
