Dear Holy Rosary Friends and Families,

The celebration of Independence Day this past week calls to mind how love for our country is brought into the Christian life. There is always the question how patriotism coordinates with the Gospel, especially given that attaining heaven is at the heart of the Gospel message. As St. Paul taught the Colossians: If then you have been raised with Christ, seek the things that are above, where Christ is seated at the right hand of God. Set your minds on things that are above, not on things that are on earth. For you have died, and your life is hid with Christ in God (3:1-3).

Our loyalties are above all else to God, and our true homeland is in heaven. Life in this world is an introduction to the true life that is to be found in eternity. In fact, through the supernatural gifts we have received in baptism, we already partly share in that eternal homeland. Our life is hid with Christ in God. St. Paul put that sentence in the present tense to signify that we are already partly infused by eternity. A heavenly destination is somehow already mysteriously present in our hearts.

Nevertheless, God has not put us in this world simply to mark time while we wait for eternity. Our waiting here is to be productive waiting. Our Blessed Lord is clear about this in the Gospels. In one of the parables, He praises those servants who are busy at work up to the moment their master returns (Lk 12:35-46). At His Last Supper discourse Jesus teaches: By this my Father is glorified, that you bear much fruit, and so prove to be my disciples (Jn. 15:8). So it is not true to say that what defines us as disciples is setting our hearts on heaven, and no more. We also prove to be disciples by making ourselves useful during our time in this world, by “bearing fruit.”

As Catholics we are in a particularly key position to further the good and noble life of our nation, because of our contact with divine truth through faith. Our faith is a treasure, not only for ourselves but for our entire nation. The value of this treasure comes to light when we consider what happens when faith is rejected in favor of materialistic and atheistic ideologies. Civil liberties that we have come to expect as a normal part of life, freedom of religion, speech, and assembly, have no place in countries where atheistic communism has held sway. As Pope Pius XI pointedly observed in his encyclical Divini redemptoris: There is no recognition of any right of the individual in his relations to the collectivity, no natural right is accorded to human personality, which is a mere cog-wheel in the communist system. Decades of communist oppression in various parts of the world, including now China, bear testimony to the rampant abuse of human rights and human dignity that can take place once the belief in God and the social virtues proclaimed by Christianity are abandoned.

In stark contrast to this are the benefits to society that result from a citizenship formed and elevated by faith. By obedience to God and divine teaching they are committed to virtues that require respect for individuals and their rights. The moral life of a Catholic by its very nature is directed to the kind of cooperation and service that overcomes divisions and brings out the best in citizens. Individual Catholics can, of course, fail to live out that moral life and become causes of breakdown in society. But for those truly embracing the moral standards proclaimed in Gospel, their lives become a leaven of goodness, unity, and peace for society.
